NOTE: To satisfy the Legal Studies Minor requirement, only one course can be required by each of the students’ major or minors, or listed (or cross-listed) in each of the students’ major or minor departments.

For example, if a Political Science Major takes POSC 404, and uses that class to satisfy a POSC major requirement as well as an LEST minor requirement, no additional POSC courses (or cross-listed courses) may be used toward satisfaction of the LEST minor.

If a student is a Double Major in Political Science and Criminal Justice, and takes POSC 404 and CRJU/LEST 301 to satisfy those two majors (respectively) as well as the LEST minor requirement, no additional POSC courses (or cross-listed courses) or CRJU courses (or cross-listed courses) may be used toward satisfaction of the LEST minor.

LEST/POSC 380 and LEST/CRJU 301 also apply to the anti-overlap limitation.

Section 1:

CORE LEGAL STUDIES COURSES

POSC 380-010 Introduction to Law  MWF 11:15am-12:05pm
Instructor: Rasmussen

Cross listed with LEST 380-010.
Satisfies the College of Arts & Sciences Group C: Social & Behavioral Sciences Breadth Requirement

Hamilton called the courts the least dangerous branch of government but our legal system looms large in our political system, our popular culture, and our everyday lives. This course offers a broad introduction to the American legal system and to the different ways that political scientists study it. Designed to expose students to the demands of legal reasoning, the practices of the legal system, and debates in legal scholarship. The class explores the sources, objectives, and content of American law, the structure and processes of federal and state courts, and the functions of the various players who make up the legal system. It includes an overview of select substantive topics, such as criminal, contract, tort and property law. It will also include an examination of broader themes such as the relationship between laws and (in) justice, the historical role of the courts in American politics, everyday experiences with the law, and ways popular culture represents and shapes the legal system.

Note: either LEST 301 or LEST 380 may satisfy core course requirement.
LEST 210-010  The Law and You           Tuesday  12:20-1:10pm   Instructor: Batchis

Provides an opportunity for students to learn more about how the law affects them directly. Prominent guest speakers cover current issues relating to the law, how it operates and how it may affect students and other members of the university community.

LEST 401-010 Senior Seminar         This course will not be offered in 2021 Spring.

Approved Substitution courses:
  FINC 418  Seminar in Corporate Governance
  POSC 402  The First Amendment
  POSC 403  Civil Liberties
  POSC 473  Gender, Sex and Law

Course substitution forms will be processed by Barbara Ford, POSC, after Free Drop/Add for Spring; in February.  barbford@udel.edu

Section 2:
INTERDISCIPLINARY COURSES

A: Substantive Law Course (complete three credits).

ACCT 350-010 Business Law I     MWF 10:10am-11:00am   Instructor: Coffin

Formation, use and performance of contracts, including both Common Law and the Uniform Commercial Code (Article 2, Sales). Other topics covered include product liability, negotiable instruments and accountants' legal liability.  RESTRICTIONS: Requires junior status.

ACCT 351-010 Business Law II    MWF 11:15am-12:05pm    Instructor: Coffin

Covers a variety of areas of law, including agency, partnerships, corporations, unfair competition, debtor-creditor relationships, bankruptcy, secured transactions, real and personal property, wills and trusts. PREREQ: ACCT350. RESTRICTIONS: Requires junior status.
ACCT 352-010 Law and Social Issues in Business
MW 10:10am-11:00am
McCloskey

ACCT 352-011 Law and Social Issues in Business
MW 11:15am-12:05pm
McCloskey

ACCT 352-012 Law and Social Issues in Business
MWF 10:10am-11:00am
Alexander

ACCT 352-013 Law and Social Issues in Business
TR 9:30am-10:45am
Moffa

ACCT 352-014 Law and Social Issues in Business
TR 2:00pm-3:15pm
Moffa

ACCT 352-015 Law and Social Issues in Business
MWF 12:20pm-1:10pm
Alexander

ACCT 352-016 Law and Social Issues in Business
TR 11:00am-12:15pm
Moffa

ACCT 352-017 Law and Social Issues in Business
MWF 11:15am-12:05pm
Alexander

COMM/LEST 345-010 Legal Issues of the Mass Media
TR 12:30pm - 1:45pm
Dee

Survey of legal issues affecting the development and performance of the mass media. The foundation of American communications law outlined through the study of First Amendment theory, its origin and development. Legal issues concerning libel, obscenity, copyright and broadcast regulation discussed.

CRJU 320-010 Introduction to Criminal Law
MWF 11:15 am -12:05 pm
Fichtelberg

An analysis of the evolution of criminal law within the larger societal context, and an overview of the basic structure and administration of criminal law in the United States.
PREREQ: CRJU110
CRJU 375-010 Criminal Procedure  M  6:00pm-9:00pm  Instructor: O'Connor

Intensive analysis of criminal court procedures that occur once a case is actually brought against an accused. Emphasis on trial tactics and procedures.

LEST 345-010 Legal Issues of the Mass Media  TR 12:30PM - 1:45PM  Dee
Cross listed with COMM 345-010

Survey of legal issues affecting the development and performance of the mass media. The foundation of American communications law outlined through the study of First Amendment theory, its origin and development. Legal issues concerning libel, obscenity, copyright and broadcast regulation discussed.

POSC 401-011 Topics in Law and Politics: HUMAN TRAFFICKING
M. McDonough  Wed  6:00 PM - 9:00 PM

This course provides an overview of labor and sex trafficking. It includes a focus on international as well as domestic trafficking. Along with an overview, the course covers the international legal framework and the American federal laws that apply to the crime of human trafficking, as well as the challenges faced by both law enforcement and prosecution. Additionally, court diversionary programs will be discussed, including the Delaware Human Trafficking Treatment court program (2012-17) started by the instructor.

The course also addresses alternative approaches tried by other countries, in particular, the Nordic model. The course explores the stigma often attached to human trafficking victims along with current efforts to reduce it. A book written by a sex trafficking survivor about her experiences during and after “the Life” is included to provide insights through the lens of a trafficking survivor. * Students (registered and those on the waiting list) are expected to attend the first class, unless excused.

POSC 402-010 The First Amendment
Batchis  M W F  11:15 AM -12:05 PM

Not open to freshmen

This course focuses on the Supreme Court’s interpretation of the First Amendment of the United States Constitution. Through intensive readings of Supreme Court cases, the course will explore the constitutional freedoms of speech, press, religion, and the separation of church and state.

The class examines a broad range of First Amendment topics, comparable to what a student would cover in a law school First Amendment class. We will read constitutional decisions addressing school prayer, government subsidies for religion, speech that provokes violence, defamation, threatening speech, commercial advertising, obscenity, child pornography, and hate speech, expression in public places, government speech, symbolic expression, and freedom of association.

Participation is mandatory. Students will be called on randomly throughout the duration of each class. Students are required to consistently come to class prepared to discuss the assigned cases and materials.

Note: ALL students who would like to register for this course MUST attend the first class. Students, who do not attend the first class, including those on the waiting list, will NOT be permitted to add this course.

POSC 403-010 Civil Liberties
Batchis M W F 2:30 PM -3:20 PM

This constitutional law course explores the right to liberty and due process under the 5th and 14th Amendments, the guarantees of equality under the Equal Protection Clause, and the protection of property rights under the Takings Clause. We will delve into a broad range of associated subjects, including race and gender equality, sexual and bodily autonomy, economic and property rights, the right to education, the right to die, abortion, desegregation, and affirmative action. These are among the most debated and controversial topics in constitutional law; students will be expected to engage with a wide array of perspectives.

The format of the class is similar to what one would expect in a law school setting. That said, an interest in attending law school is by no means a prerequisite. All students interested in the subjects covered are welcome. However, please be aware that we will be using the case method. This means that students will be required to closely read and parse Supreme Court decisions.

Students will be called on randomly throughout the duration of each class, and will be required to consistently come to class prepared to discuss the assigned cases and material. Participation is mandatory.

Note: ALL students who would like to register for this course MUST attend the first class. Students, who do not attend the first class, including those on the waiting list, will NOT be permitted to add this course.

POSC 473-010 Gender, Sex and Law
Cross-listed with WOMS 473-010

Cross-listed with WOMS 473-010

“The ask no favor for my sex. All I ask of our brethren is that they take their feet from off our necks.” Ruth Bader Ginsburg quoted Sarah Grimke in her confirmation hearings in 1993 on her way to become just the second woman to serve as United States Supreme Court Justice. Ginsburg’s career on the court and earlier as an advocate utilized the law as a tool for achieving the gender equality for which Grimke and other feminists had earlier pleaded. This course provides a survey of several areas of law in which the struggle for gender equality has been fought including anti-discrimination law, reproductive justice, employment law, gender-based violence, and sexual autonomy. The course will chart the way the law has reflected and challenged gender-based hierarchy and gender hierarchies in the political struggle for equality with special attention to the differential effects of class, race, and sexuality. We will give particular attention to contemporary political controversies over the #metoo movement, gender equality advocacy within the Black Lives Matter movement, and the future of Roe v. Wade and abortion politics under a new Supreme Court. Students will be exposed to a variety of ways of studying the law including case law, policy-making processes, law popular culture, and socio-legal scholarship studying law in everyday life.

Interdisciplinary Courses

B. Electives (complete nine credits 18 Fall to present)

*If you added the minor in 16F or 17F complete six credits of electives.

NOTE: Interdisciplinary Courses must be selected from at least TWO different departments OUTSIDE of the student’s major(s).

AFRA 220-010 The Civil Rights Movement
MW 5:00pm - 6:15 pm
Stanford
Cross listed with HIST 220-010

This course examines African American struggles for freedom, equality, and citizenship from the 1940s to the present.

CRJU 202-010 Problems of Criminal Judiciary
MWF 9:05am-9:55am
Donnelly

Focuses on problems and issues found in the American criminal court system. Includes court organization, the courtroom work group (prosecutors, defense attorneys, and judges), pretrial and trial procedures, and basic criminal law.

CRJU 203-010 Problems of Corrections
T R 11:00am-12:15pm
Instructor: Kupchik

General overview of the American corrections system and a survey of the most pressing correctional problems of the twenty-first century. Philosophy of punishment extensively discussed. Major emphasis on the nature of the prison experience, alternatives to incarceration, judicial intervention in correctional affairs and the controversy over the efficacy of rehabilitation programs.
This course satisfies the College of Arts & Sciences Group C: Social & Behavioral Sciences Breadth Requirement.

CRJU 324-010/080 American Constitutional History  TR 11:00am-12:15pm  Rise

Cross listed with HIST 324-010

A survey of constitutionalism in the U.S. from the American Revolution to the present, emphasizing these broad areas of constitutional change: the balance of power between the federal government and the states, the Supreme Court's exercise of judicial review, the growth of presidential power, and the scope of civil rights and civil liberties.

CRJU 425-010 Criminal Law and Social Policy  MWF 1:25pm-2:15pm  Sanders

Analyzes the role of the American judiciary in making social policy and examines the manner in which the courts have adjudicated controversial socio-legal issues. Topics typically include capital punishment, abortion, the right to privacy, search and seizure, the Miranda rule, and freedom of speech and press.

CRJU 435-010 Punishing Speech  TR 12:30pm-1:45pm  Rise

Examines the use of the criminal law and other regulatory sanctions to punish certain types of speech and the efforts of courts to determine which speech is deserving of constitutional protection and therefore beyond governmental control.

CRJU 457-010 Criminal Evidence  TR 3:30pm-4:45pm  Polk

The study of the laws of evidence, how they are used in the criminal courts, and their effect on the administration of justice.

ECON 408-010 Economics of Law  MWF 2:30pm-3:20pm  Instructor: Daniel

Effect of legal rules on resource allocation both in and between the public and private sectors. Considers common law, regulation and constitutional rules. PREREQ: One of ECON251, ECON255, or ECON300 or ECON301. Same as LEST 408.
EDUC 240-010 Legal and Ethical Issues in American Education
Instructor: Blacker

Explores ethical and legal controversies in school discipline, intellectual freedom, students’ rights, moral and citizenship education, and other professional concerns.

FINC418-010/080 Seminar in Corporate Governance
TR 9:30am-10:45am
Staff

Examines current issues in corporate governance. Topics include executive compensation, shareholder resolutions and board of director ownership and accountability. PREREQ: FINC311.

HIST 220-010 The Civil Rights Movement
MW 5:00pm - 6:15 pm
Stanford

Cross listed with AFRA 220-010

This course examines African American struggles for freedom, equality, and citizenship from the 1940s to the present.

HIST 324-010/080 American Constitutional History
TR 11:00am-12:15pm
Rise

Cross listed with CRJU 324-010

A survey of constitutionalism in the U.S. from the American Revolution to the present, emphasizing these broad areas of constitutional change: the balance of power between the federal government and the states, the Supreme Court's exercise of judicial review, the growth of presidential power, and the scope of civil rights and civil liberties.

LEST 380-010 Introduction to Law
MWF 11:15am-12:05pm
Instructor: Rasmussen

Cross listed with POSC 380-010.

Satisfies the College of Arts & Sciences Group C: Social & Behavioral Sciences Breadth Requirement

Hamilton called the courts the least dangerous branch of government but our legal system looms large in our political system, our popular culture, and our everyday lives. This course offers a broad introduction to the American legal system and to the different ways that political scientists study it. Designed to expose students to the demands of legal reasoning, the practices of the legal system, and debates in legal scholarship. The class explores the sources, objectives, and content of American law, the structure and processes of federal and state courts, and the functions of the various players who make up the legal system. It includes an overview of select substantive topics, such as criminal, contract, tort and property law. It will also include an examination of broader themes such as the relationship between laws and (in) justice, the historical role of the courts in American politics, everyday experiences with the law, and ways popular culture represents and shapes the legal system.
POSC 401-011  Topics in Law and Politics: HUMAN TRAFFICKING
M. McDonough                                  Wed   6:00 PM - 9:00 PM

This course provides an overview of labor and sex trafficking. It includes a focus on international as well as domestic trafficking. Along with an overview, the course covers the international legal framework and the American federal laws that apply to the crime of human trafficking, as well as the challenges faced by both law enforcement and prosecution. Additionally, court diversionary programs will be discussed, including the Delaware Human Trafficking Treatment court program (2012-17) started by the instructor.

The course also addresses alternative approaches tried by other countries, in particular, the Nordic model. The course explores the stigma often attached to human trafficking victims along with current efforts to reduce it. A book written by a sex trafficking survivor about her experiences during and after "the Life" is included to provide insights through the lens of a trafficking survivor. * Students (registered and those on the waiting list) are expected to attend the first class, unless excused.

POSC 402-010  The First Amendment
Batchis                          M W F   11:15 AM -12:05 PM

Not open to freshmen

This course focuses on the Supreme Court's interpretation of the First Amendment of the United States Constitution. Through intensive readings of Supreme Court cases, the course will explore the constitutional freedoms of speech, press, religion, and the separation of church and state.

The class examines a broad range of First Amendment topics, comparable to what a student would cover in a law school First Amendment class. We will read constitutional decisions addressing school prayer, government subsidies for religion, speech that provokes violence, defamation, threatening speech, commercial advertising, obscenity, child pornography, and hate speech, expression in public places, government speech, symbolic expression, and freedom of association.

Participation is mandatory. Students will be called on randomly throughout the duration of each class. Students are required to consistently come to class prepared to discuss the assigned cases and materials.

Note: ALL students who would like to register for this course MUST attend the first class. Students, who do not attend the first class, including those on the waiting list, will NOT be permitted to add this course.
This constitutional law course explores the right to liberty and due process under the 5th and 14th Amendments, the guarantees of equality under the Equal Protection Clause, and the protection of property rights under the Takings Clause. We will delve into a broad range of associated subjects, including race and gender equality, sexual and bodily autonomy, economic and property rights, the right to education, the right to die, abortion, desegregation, and affirmative action. These are among the most debated and controversial topics in constitutional law; students will be expected to engage with a wide array of perspectives.

The format of the class is similar to what one would expect in a law school setting. That said, an interest in attending law school is by no means a prerequisite. All students interested in the subjects covered are welcome. However, please be aware that we will be using the case method. This means that students will be required to closely read and parse Supreme Court decisions.

Students will be called on randomly throughout the duration of each class, and will be required to consistently come to class prepared to discuss the assigned cases and material. Participation is mandatory.

Note: ALL students who would like to register for this course MUST attend the first class. Students, who do not attend the first class, including those on the waiting list, will NOT be permitted to add this course.

Although the courts are by design the least democratic of major American political institutions, they are also essential to maintaining the rule of law and basic rights necessary to a functioning democracy. However, what is the role of politics in the judicial process and what role does the judicial system play in our politics? This course begins with an examination of the structure, process and personnel of our judicial system. Among other topics, we will critically evaluate the judicial nomination process and judicial review. We then explore how courts make decisions, the challenges to their implementation, and the influence they have on public opinion and American Politics. Students who complete this course will have a sophisticated understanding of how Interest Groups, Congress, the President, the Public influences are persuaded by judicial decisions.

“I ask no favor for my sex. All I ask of our brethren is that they take their feet from off our necks.” Ruth Bader Ginsburg quoted Sarah Grimke in her confirmation hearings in 1993 on her way to become just the second woman to serve as United States Supreme Court Justice. Ginsburg’s career on the court and earlier as an advocate utilized the law as a tool for achieving the gender equality for which Grimke and other feminists had earlier pleaded. This course provides a survey of several areas of law in which the struggle for gender equality has been fought including anti-discrimination law, reproductive justice, employment law, gender-based violence, and sexual autonomy. The course will chart the way the law has reflected and challenged gender-based hierarchy and gender hierarchies in the political struggle for equality with special attention to the differential effects of class, race, and sexuality. We will give particular attention to contemporary political controversies over the #metoo movement, gender equality advocacy within the Black Lives Matter movement, and the future of Roe v. Wade and abortion politics under a new Supreme Court. Students will be exposed to a variety of ways of studying the law including case law, policy-making processes, law popular culture, and socio-legal scholarship studying law in everyday life.

SPTM 315-010 Legal Aspects of Sports Management M 6:00pm-9:00pm Williams

Introduces the legal principles of tort law, agency law, antitrust labor law and constitutional law as they apply to the domestic and global sport industry.

RESTRICTIONS: Open to Junior and Senior Lerner Students only.

-end-